New Features

Define Time Constraints By Review Tier

Spend less time manually managing proofs and provide your reviewers with clear expectations of when feedback is due with Time Constraints (https://guide.lytho.com/help/review-routes#route-tier-time-constraints%C2%A0). Now you can configure your route tiers to automatically move forward based on date or duration. System notifications and emails keep your reviewers informed of deadlines, so you don't miss yours!

The screenshot shows the 'Tier 1' configuration interface. At the top, it says 'Tier 1'. Below that, there is a section for 'Group 1' with a dropdown menu set to 'All Essential'. Underneath, there are three reviewer cards: Christy Drucker (christy@truesoap.co), Caleb Eisenhower (caleb@truesoap.co), and Emily Sanchez (emily@truesoap.co). Each card has a small 'x' icon in the top right corner. Below the reviewer cards is a search bar labeled 'Search for reviewer'. In the center, there is a text label: 'Move tier forward if all essential reviewers complete review'. At the bottom, there is a 'Time Constraint' dropdown menu currently set to 'None'. A mouse cursor is pointing at the dropdown. A tooltip is visible over the dropdown menu, showing three options: 'None' (with a green checkmark), 'Date' (with the description 'Outstanding reviewers will be skipped after this date.'), and 'Duration' (with the description 'Outstanding reviewers will be skipped once this duration is met.').

Add Tier Constraints to Your Templates

Automate your deadlines at scale with templated time constraints. Building time constraints into your templates will automatically create relative review deadlines for your projects, making it even easier for your team to keep projects on track and deliver on time.
